Benson Housecleaning Giving Republicans A Lift, Says Senator

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said today that Secretary of Agriculture Benson has "given the Republican party a lift" by recent changes in top-level personnel of his department.

Watkins gave his opinion in an interview as both Republicans and Democrats caught their breath after a barrage of GOP Lincoln Day oratory and counterblasts. Some of the counterattacking Democrats renewed criticism of the administration flexible farm price support proposals.

Changes Applauded

But Watkins, just back from a visit to his home state, said he found President Eisenhower just as popular as ever in the West despite this criticism.

"I don't think Republicans generally are quite as popular as they were in 1952, but maybe we don't

Weyland, who returned Thursday from an inspection tour of the war-torn land, emphasized that the Americans are "non-combatants and act solely as technical advisers and expert mechanics" for planes "applied as a part of the regular military assistance program to the French forces."

Jury Holds Fate Of Detroit Reds

DETROIT (AP)—The four-month-old conspiracy trial of six Michigan Communists was but a step from the jury today.

Only a charge by presiding Federal Judge Frank A. Picard to the jury of seven women and five men remained. Judge Picard said his reading of the charge would take about three hours.

Government attorneys wound up their case Friday. Defendants are Mrs. Helen Winter; Philip Schatz; William Allan; Saul Wellman; Nat Ganley and Thomas De Witt Dennis, Jr.

They are charged with conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government in violation of the Smith Act.

If convicted they face maximum five-year prison sentences.

Father Dies Knowing Son Stayed With Reds

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (AP)—Relatives have disclosed the death Friday of George J. Veneris, 63, whose son James is one of the 21 Korea prisoners who refuses to leave the Communists.

A daughter, Anastasia, said Sunday that Veneris "was broken-hearted after hospital attendants told him last month that Jimmy had chosen to stay with the Reds."

"We hadn't intended to let him know," she added, "But it leaked out."

Shortly before his death, said relatives, Veneris told them tearfully:

"I wish I could see Jimmy once more."

New Citizenship Education Promoted By Michigan Legion

BAY CITY (AP)—Michigan's American Legion is setting out a new citizenship education program for young people and a child guidance project.

These were among actions of the 36th annual spring conference, described as the largest on record, which concluded here Sunday.

The state department took a formal stand opposing a legislative proposal to eliminate the Michigan Naval Militia and said it would try to make peace with the American Medical Assn.

Pontiac Woman Sets Six Fires

PONTIAC (AP)—Authorities said today they will ask a sanity test for Mrs. Mabel Howe, who was held for investigation of arson in the setting of fires in the homes of six neighbors.

Assistant Prosecutor George Taylor of Oakland County said the 28-year-old Mrs. Howe admitted setting the blazes because she thought she was the subject backfire gossip.

Four of the homes burned to the ground. All were in the Tipisco Lake area, 12 miles south of Holly, which is about 19 miles northwest of Pontiac.

Taylor said he is convinced Mrs. Howe is a pyromaniac, one who has an uncontrollable impulse to set fires for thrills.

Police said Mrs. Howe confessed she also set two fires in her own home. Neither did serious damage. Police became suspicious of her Feb. 7 when firemen extinguished blazing curtains in her home. It was the second fire there within a few months.

All the other fires were within a block of her home.

The AMA, in an opinion with which the Legion differs, has charged abuse in use of Veterans Administration hospitalization by veterans with non-service connected disabilities.

The Legion will name a committee to meet with the Michigan Medical Society in an effort to iron out differences.

For its child guidance project the Legion appropriated $1,000. The funds will support a study by a group of religious leaders, teachers, law enforcement officers, child guidance specialists, and Legionnaires.

The citizenship education program, intended to fit high school students to take an active role in their communities, was endorsed as a proposal from State Commander Billy R. Wickens of Midland.

NEW YORK (AP)—A membership application from Nobel prize-winning French chemist-physicist Mme. Irene Joliot-Curie has been rejected by the American Chemical Society on the belief she is a Communist.

Industry Picks Engineers From College Ranks

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Corporation scouts, college placement offices predict today, will soon be haunting campuses recruiting the grads for industry. The crop of trained youth still is in short supply.

However liberal art grads may fare, the American Chemical Society predicts, engineering companies will get only two-thirds as many graduates as they need this year.

Need Increases

The atomic age will only increase the need for engineers, according to the Engineers Joint Council, which represents 170,000 members of eight engineering societies.

The government already drains the supply to get men to handle such things as guided missiles, jet planes and foreign economic aid and development. The council adds: "Atomic power and the utilization of solar energy loom on the horizons."

The scientific manpower commission is uniting with the council in a drive for more and better science teachers in high schools to induce youth to enter engineering courses.

Tax On Arithmetic

And retired Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who headed the Manhattan atomic bomb project during the war, contends that a principal reason for the current lack of students to be engineers is that too many high school students aren't taught the fundamentals of arithmetic.

The reasons usually given for the shortage: the big increase in demand for technicians in the booming postwar world; the small crop of depression babies, now at college age; and the Korean War and draft which claimed students as they came from high school.

This year there will be 1,300 fewer graduates in chemistry than last spring the American Chemical Society notes sadly.

After a survey of college campuses and of industrial companies, it reports the need for chemists, engineers and physicists is 9 per cent higher than a year ago. Talk of recession hasn't changed that picture, it holds.

Rebels Stopped In Laos Attack

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The French High Command announced today that troops defending Luang Prabang have thrown back a Communist-led Vietnam attack made by a advance rebel units who crossed the Mekong River about eight miles north of the Laotian royal capital.

The communique said the Vietnamese force was estimated at battalion strength.

French defenders also tangled with rebel troops in the Suong River Valley, about eight miles northeast of Luang Prabang, putting them to flight.

A French spokesman said about 1,500 Vietnamese guerrilla troops around Luang Prabang's defense lines have been reinforced by an undetermined number of regular rebel units. But the bulk of the Vietnamese forces, were reported still in the Bac River Valley, about 45 to 50 miles north of the capital city. Advance elements were near the Nga River Valley, about 15 miles ahead of the main group.

Preacher Arrested

LEGHORN, Italy (AP)—Police held an Italian preacher of the American-sponsored church of Christ today following a new crackdown against sect. Two policemen entered the Leghorn church Sunday while services were being held and then took away the preacher, Lido Petri. Petri had been arrested two days earlier but was released. In Rome on Saturday, police chided the name "Church of Christ" from the sect's building.

Underground Pentagon Built In Mountain, 65 Miles From Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The high command's atom-age "underground Pentagon," built inside a mountain 65 miles from the national capital, is ready.

A Defense Department spokesman said today in reply to a reporter's question that the project, which started three years ago to provide an alternate command post and communications center if atomic attack should threaten or destroy the Pentagon, is "100 per cent completed."

Cost 35 Million

The cost of blasting out the cavern under Rock Raven Mountain, in Frederick County, Md., building housing for personnel above ground and installing communications equipment presumably reached at least the original estimate of 35 million dollars.

Available information indicates a maintenance force of military personnel now is at what the Defense Department calls its "joint supplemental communications facility."

Jurisdiction of the facility, which includes the former National Guard training site of Ft. Ritchie as well as the man-made cavern five miles from the fort, is under the Defense Department. Its use in wartime would be by all three services—Army, Navy and Air Force—for central direction of defense and counterattack even though headquarters at Washington might be wiped out.

Linked By Radio

Construction was under direction of the Army's Corps of Engineers.

Although the spokesman said that the project now is 100 per cent complete, no details were given to show whether this also included completion of connected projects—such as the construction of a radio transmitter station at Greencastle, Pa., and a receiver station at Sharpsburg, Md., and the laying of underground cables to provide telephone and telegraph connection with transcontinental trunk line cables which cross the Allegheny Mountain ridge some miles from the site. Ft. Ritchie is located almost on the Maryland-Pennsylvania border.

The emergency command post is linked to the normal communications facilities of the Army, Navy and Air Force by five microwave radio stations built in or near Washington.

Chamber 35 Feet High

Actual construction started Jan. 1, 1951, although plans had been considered soon after the end of World War II.

Contractors specializing in hard rock tunneling bored and blasted and carted away 500,000 cubic yards of material.

A tunnel, curving to reduce blast pressure from an atomic explosion outside, is about 25 feet across, with a vaulted roof of about equal height.

Deep in the interior of the mountain where presumably even a direct hit by an atomic bomb could not penetrate, is the main chamber, about 35 feet high.

Voice Of Pope Weak On Radio

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican Radio rebroadcast today a feeble spoken, four-minute message by convalescing Pope Pius XII. The pontiff's voice, weak and hesitant after his recent illness, had been recorded at his bedside over a period of two days.

Vatican officials reported again Sunday that the 77-year-old leader of the Roman Catholic Church is continuing to improve slowly.

The Vatican announced today that the 77-year-old pontiff's recovery is continuing, "although slowly." The announcement said the Pope's diet "continues to be more satisfactory daily, and it is expected that soon indirect means of feeding can be discontinued."

For the first time since his confinement three weeks ago, he was able to leave his room Sunday to hear mass in the private chapel of his Vatican apartment.

His address marked a day of prayer for the ailing in connection with the church's commemoration of the Marian year—the centenary of the Catholic dogma of the Virgin Mary's immaculate conception.

Translations in various languages went out over the radio today.

The Pope spoke four minutes, telling the sick they are "precious jewels" of the church and a "valid source of spiritual energies."

Killing Of Movie Scout Is Solved

EL RENO, Okla. (AP)—Two men held in the slaying of David L. Johnston, 30-year-old Hollywood talent scout, were awaiting action by Los Angeles authorities today.

It is expected they will be extradited after warrants are issued and returned to Los Angeles where authorities will question them further about the budgeon slaying in Johnston's suburban Los Angeles home Wednesday.

One of the men, Ronald James Maurer, Cleveland, Ohio, resident who is AWOL from Camp Stone-Maurer, Calif., signed a confession Saturday night admitting he and his companion, Leo J. Densmore, beat Johnston to death then escaped in the talent scout's car.

They were arrested here after a description of the car was broadcast.

Densmore refused to talk to officers, demanding to see an attorney.

In his statement, Maurer said they killed Johnston because they were refused a loan. They also said Johnston began making improper advances.

Los Angeles police said Johnston had a record of morals arrests.

Cockfight Raided North Of Pontiac; 40 Men Arrested

A 45-man Oakland County sheriff's posse raided the farm of Joseph McIlrath, 43, seven miles north of Pontiac. McIlrath was arrested on charges of operating a rooster fight.

Deputies found some 44 birds and their spurs for fighting on the farm. A fight was in progress in the barn when officers arrived. Several dead birds were found in the area.

Legalized Bingo Bill Is Revived

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature rounds the quarter post this week and begins to pick up tempo.

Bingo leads the list of subjects which may attract the public's interest.

Sponsors of a constitutional amendment to legalize "charity" bingo and lotteries planned to trot the measure out by midweek.

Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman) said he would ask the Senate Judiciary Committee this week to release his bingo proposal. He announced that upwards of 50,000 signatures will be presented to the legislature to show public support for the measure.

Sen. Donald W. Gilbert (R-Saginaw) said he would make his anticipated move tonight to force his lobby regulation bill out of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

The committee has twice refused to release the bill for floor debate. Gilbert said he would move to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill, a step which has not proven successful in the Senate since 1911.

Gilbert's bill would tighten existing laws regulating lobbying.

Treasury Reports Only 4 Out Of 130 Fired As Disloyal

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury Department has informed Congress that out of 130 "security" dismissals or forced resignations in 1953, four were found to be "disloyal persons" under standards since scrapped.

The information was given to the House Appropriations Committee, which published it today, by Elbert P. Tuttle, acting security officer for the department, which has about 77,000 employees. The committee was considering the department's budget request.

Contacts With Reds

A man doesn't have to be disloyal to be classed as a security risk, Tuttle said.

In a separate report on the customs service, whose 8,000 employees supervise imports into the United States, it was disclosed that six persons were dismissed last year as security risks. Customs Commissioner David B. Strubinger said all six appeared to have had "contact" with Communists.

Tuttle gave the information about the Treasury Department security dismissals under repeated demands from Rep. Gary (D-Va.).

A number of Democrats in Congress have protested that Republicans have sought to give the impression that most of the 2,200 persons the administration says were dropped from the federal payroll last year under its security program were subversives. Democrats claim a big majority of the 2,200 resigned or were fired for reasons other than loyalty and that many of them simply transferred to other government agencies.

Standards Changed

Gary said he objected to lumping all "security risks" together and including Communists, alcoholics and persons with other objectionable traits in the same category.

Tuttle said there was no way of comparing security dismissals under the Eisenhower administration with those under the Truman administration because "the whole basis of approach is different."

Under the Truman loyalty standards, he explained, disloyalty to the United States was the only grounds for dismissal.

The new procedure, he said, provides that "if a person is deemed to suffer from disability or frailty so that it is not clear that it is to the best interests of the United States to retain him because those frailties may cause him to be a risk in the future, he is subject to dismissal."

As an illustration, Tuttle said "a person married to a person who becomes a Communist or Fascist or who may be married to a husband or wife whose father or brother may become identified with a listed subversive organization, becomes a person who in the Treasury may become a security risk without our having to determine that that person is a disloyal person."

Employers Will File Reports On Payroll Levies

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews thinks the government can relieve about 35 million taxpayers from filing any individual income tax return at all next year—though they would still pay the tax.

And he plans to double the number of revenue agents, now about 8,000, by adding 1,000 new agents a year to pick up 1½ to 2 billion dollars in taxes he says the government is now missing, and check what he called a growing rise of evasion.

No Figuring To Do

Andrews outlined these and other far-reaching plans during closed hearings two weeks ago before a House Appropriations subcommittee on his agency's budget. A transcript of his testimony was released today.

The commissioner said "considerable progress" has been made on a long-talked plan under which no tax return would be required from persons whose entire income is subject to payroll withholding taxes.

Employers would file a single report, covering both income taxes and social security taxes. The government would compute the tax and send the taxpayer a bill or a refund.

That would leave only about 20 million of the nation's 55 million income taxpayers still filing annual returns.

Planned For 1955

Andrews said the plan would save 35 million dollars a year through reduced paper work for the tax service, but add 10 million in costs to the social security administration.

He told the committee that 1955 is the target date for putting the plan into effect and "I think we can do it."

Andrews said the tax service also has snatched up against an apparent increase in efforts to claim illegal deductions and deductions and get bigger tax refunds than justified. He noted that refunds have increased from 1½ billion dollars in 1950 to more than 2½ billion for 1953.

Although the number of evaders still is small in comparison with the total of all tax returns, Andrews said, "this trend may be an indication that something serious is happening to our voluntary compliance system . . ."

Homes Flooded In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—City crews and residents mopped up today after heavy downpours flooded streets and homes from Santa Monica to San Pedro and hail and snow fell in the foothill and mountain areas over the weekend.

The downpour brought 2.90 inches of rain to downtown Los Angeles, and ocean cities and canyon areas received more. Santa Monica recorded 3.38, Zuma Beach north of Malibu 4.30, and Topanga Canyon 6.08. There was up to 6 inches of new snow in the San Bernardino mountains.

Homes were evacuated, mud slides blocked the Pacific coast highway, and automobiles were floating in six feet of water in West Los Angeles and coastal communities Saturday.

Seven hundred homes were flooded in Venice and children at a theater there were taken to safety by lifeguards in boats after the lobby became inundated.

Aradia police reported 5,000 cars stalled on flooded Huntington drive while trying to leave the Santa Anita racetrack. Most north and south arterials between Los Angeles and the harbor, 25 miles south, were blocked by flooded areas at one time or another.

Weather Today Sets New High Record With 47 At 1:30 P. M.

It was 47 degrees above zero in Escanaba at 1:30 p. m. today, and that set a new record for Feb. 15, the local weather bureau reports.

The last previous high temperature for the date was a 42 back in 1907.

Foggy Weather To Turn To Snow Tomorrow Night

Cloudy and a bit colder is the forecast for tomorrow made by S. E. Decker of the Escanaba weather bureau.

The change in temperature will be slight, however and the fog that has been hovering over this area since late Sunday afternoon is likely to continue and wind up with a drizzling rain turning into snow.

The foggy condition covers the entire Upper Peninsula and extends as far south as Green Bay and west beyond Wausau, Wis. This is caused by a low pressure area hovering over Lake Superior coming in contact with high pressure influences from the west.

Sunday's high reached 41 and receded back to 33 during the night. By 10 a. m., it was back to 37 and it went to 47 at 1:30 p. m.

Mild temperatures are general throughout the country with unseasonably high readings in North Dakota to as far south as Oklahoma. Dodge City, Kas., experienced an uncomfortable 85.

Ice Revue Features Skating Specialists

Many specialty acts will be featured in the "Ice Varieties of 1954." Solos, duets, quartets, a comedy act, brother and sister acts and a father and daughter number are several of the many enchanting numbers to be presented on the ice this year in the show which opens Wednesday at the indoor rink.

Pete Dube again will perform for the Escanaba Ice Revue fans. Pete, considered to be the world's champion speedskater for all men over the age of 50, has successfully defended his title many times in the past several years.

Patty Rosemurgy and Carolyn Ward, two youngsters who have proved themselves fine skaters in past revues, will be featured in a duet. Also skating in a duet number will be Joy Peterson and Judy Marcouiller. Joy, one of the revue's youngest featured stars, also will do a solo number.

Donna Sullivan, a veteran of six ice revues as a specialty, will captivate the audience with her role of Snow White, while her Prince Charming, Billy Goodreau, will charm them.

A comedy act performed by John Derouin and John Moore is guaranteed to keep the audience laughing. Both of these fellows have had experience in capering antics on ice.

Mary and Billy Goodreau will present a brother and sister act besides their solo numbers. Mary, often called the "Sweetheart of the Revue," will once again treat the audience to some plain and fancy figure skating on the blades. Billy, a terrific young skater, will amaze the crowd with his ability.

The other brother and sister act will be performed by Karen and John Moore. This will be the second year that they have been featured together. They both have skated in many of the past shows.

Father And Daughter
Janet DeCaire and John Derouin will skate together as a feature of one of the big production numbers. Laurel Dunkley will skate a solo for the first time this year although she previously had appeared in the revues as part of the line numbers.

Once again, the father and daughter act of Howard Dufour and Maxine will delight the audience with their display of grace on ice. Freddie Sensiba, known for her skating in trio specialty acts, this year will venture upon a single.

Carolyn Johnson, last year's assistant director, and Bob Schwalbach, director of the 1953 show and co-director for 1954, will be featured in the last production number of the show. Both skated professionally for several years.

Jeannette LeCaptain, also co-director for the show, will once again be featured in several numbers, displaying her abilities on the ice.

Besides the specialty numbers, six production numbers will be iced, giving the show a professional air. Every skater in the lines should be singled out also for the fine job they do.

BEFORE YOU BUY HEARING ON PRICE ALONE
A Bargain in Hearing—Can You Afford It?

What does good hearing cost today for those with impaired natural hearing? How can you be sure that you are getting a "bargain" in hearing? What should a fine modern hearing aid cost to operate? These are only a few of the questions in the minds of hard of hearing people in this new era of the remarkable L. A. Watson transistor hearing aids.

There's no mystery or monopoly about price in hearing aids. There are various electronic aids available at $125, $75, $50 and less. As a matter of fact, if you are without funds, you can obtain a serviceable electronic aid without cost through various public and private sources. No one can truthfully say in American — "I cannot afford to hear."

The heart of the question is: Every problem of hearing loss is individual—different more or less from every other case. Any hearing aid at any price will make sounds louder. But only a fine, precision instrument, individually fitted to your particular hearing loss after careful scientific analysis of your particular problem will come close to restoring you to the most in hearing ability possible in your case.

So with a "bargain in hearing" you may be getting only a part of the hearing correction possible in your case; understanding of conversation in groups and noisy places which isn't as clear and easy as it should be; only a part of the total range which your ears could and should bring you; a 60% hearing correction when it could have been and should have been an 80% or a 90% hearing correction.

You can be sure as to whether or not you're getting a "bargain" in hearing. Find out just what kind of hearing correction and benefits the three "hearing dimensions" of your personal hearing problem make possible. Know what kind of range, distance pick-up, discrimination in noise or quiet, tolerance for loud sounds, etc. you can expect. Compare it with what you get. Without cost or obligation, Malco will be glad to assist you in such a full analysis and understanding of your "Hearing Possibilities." As the laboratories which supply 90% of America's precision hearing test instruments to physicians, Army, Navy, schools, and institutions, you will find our approach a sound and scientific one. ## Iron Mountain Being Served By New Substation

IRON MOUNTAIN—Completion of a new substation, built to meet the increasing residential and commercial demands for electric power in Iron Mountain and Kingsford, was announced by Walter Dougoveto, manager of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company's Northern Division.

The new substation is located between East Hughitt and East A Streets immediately east of the east side recreation center.

Current enters the substation on a 13,800 volt line from the firm's generating plants in Michigan and Northern Wisconsin. Transformers in the substation are rated, 1,500 KVA and will reduce the voltage to 4,160 volts. One circuit will distribute the current to residences in Iron Mountain's east side, and another circuit will serve the business district, Dougoveto explained.

Crews are now transferring the two circuits to the new facility from the Kingsford Substation, which formerly served these two areas. Relieving the Kingsford substation of part of its present load is expected to release electric power to better serve the Kingsford, Breitung and Iron Mountain west side and central areas.

The substation is the second of a new all-enclosed type installed in Iron Mountain. The other is located near the filtration plant and serves the entire north side of the City of Iron Mountain, which

Motorists Must Stop For Flasher Signals

Motorists must bring their vehicles to a stop before crossing the C&NW railroad crossing on Stephenson Ave. when the automatic flasher warning signal is operating, Safety Director Glen Leonard said today.

The law requires that when the signal is operating all vehicles must stop at a safe distance from the railroad tracks. They are to stay halted until they are assured they can cross safely, Leonard added.

Motorists who are involved in collisions at the crossing will be charged with failure to observe the warning signal, he said.

It is not necessary for the motorist to stay stopped until the flasher signal stops, but to stop on the signal, and then proceed only when it is safe to do so.

Previously had also been served from the Kingsford substation.

Letters To The Editor

RISKING WAR?

Dear Editor:
Mrs. Oman was so right that our young men's lives were lost for nothing but just plain foolishness. Now big shot Syngman Rhee wants to restart the Korean war and asks us for help. Now if he does not satisfy his ego for another war, let us make it clear to him that our men are not helping.

The war in Indo-China is a fluid war composed of guerrilla raids and what may be the rear area one week is the front area the next. At the present time we have 125 Air Force technicians there, and they are to be augmented by 200 more technical advisers and expert mechanics. Our men are presumably stationed at air fields.

If the Communists would bomb and overtake Indo-China what would happen to us men? This could embroil us in another Asiatic war, in a territory not of our choosing.

Would Syngman Rhee and his ego for war repay for the lives of our loved ones? He would grin and say it's too bad, but it all had to happen that way. It won't happen if America would tell him right out that no American will fight again in Korea or other foreign soil. Syngman Rhee would be glad to pull in his horns and keep the peace.

Russia and her satellites along with Rhee are making a laughing stock out of America. We all must remember that Russia has the A

We have a man for President who should know army tricks and schemes. He has been in the army long enough to know what he is doing. But I sometimes wonder if he even knows the score. If he does he surely won't send our boys out to satisfy Rhee or no other satellites ego for war.

French Look For More Help To Swing Balance In Indo-China

THE military situation in Indo-China evidently is slowly deteriorating for the French. Washington is aware that some new, hard decisions will soon have to be made if the territory is to be kept out of Communist hands.

There is perhaps slight reason to doubt that recent Viet Minh rebel advances in Laos are designed to impress Western diplomats meeting with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov in Berlin. But the unhappy fact is, the French are not able to prevent these demonstrations of mobility.

And this despite America's contribution of nearly two thirds of the present cost of the war, not to mention other efforts to improve the French military position.

Close observers both in France and Indo-China say the French at home and the French soldiery in the field are terribly tired of this eight-year-old war. They want it to end.

Moreover, all energy expended to the purpose so far has not produced a native Viet Nam army to which the French could entrust the defense of Indo-China. Not long ago, a small unit of Viet Namese defected to the enemy, taking with them valued equipment. The lesson was not lost on either the French, their native allies, or the Red rebels.

On the other side, the Viet Minh forces are rated a better army than ever before in the long contest. Originally a ragtag and bobtail outfit, they have gained greatly through training and are now an organized army. Furthermore, consistent aid from China and Russia has fitted them for modern combat against the best the French can offer.

So, slowly but steadily, the balance seems to be swinging against the French. They have hinted many times that they would like a truce. The Reds have tossed out the hope they might get one. But a truce in Indo-China would not be like one in Korea.

Western leaders fear that any truce would leave the Reds in too strong a position, both militarily and politically, for future safety. It might be different if a single line existed and the Viet Namese natives were enthusiastically organized under a strong pro-French leader. But such is not the case.

If our own military and diplomatic experts hold to the theory that Indo-China is still the key to all Southeast Asia and must therefore be kept out of Reds hands, they give themselves a tough assignment.

Almost certainly, the participation of American manpower in the Indo-China war on any substantial scale would be dismissed as a political impossibility at home. The alternatives would seem to be to take on a still bigger share of the load, and possibly to undertake—with embarrassment to the French—the training of Viet Namese natives for the defense of their own soil.

Manna From Montana In Make Work Plan

SENATOR Murray of Montana offers an antirecession bill which would up the minimum wage from the present 75 cents an hour to $1.25, and cut the work week from 40 to 35 hours.

The first may be an arguable proposal, but there is little to be said for the second. It is strictly a spread-the-work device of the kind heard of so often in the long depression. The senator does not envisage that the same work would be done in 35 hours as is done now in 40. He would expect others to be hired to fill the gap.

The unemployed must be taken care of by adequate and improved insurance, by job-hunting assistance, and other machinery. But neither they nor the economy are helped in the end by make-work maneuvers which reduce the efficiency of industry, cut other workers' hours and take-home pay, and add nothing to purchasing power.

Questions and Answers

Q—How can the Administration predict both a $2.9 billion budget deficit for fiscal 1955, and a $100 million "cash" surplus?

A—Part of the federal government's income and outgo passes through trust funds—such as the Social Security retirement "kitty." Trust-fund dollars are segregated from the conventional budget books, but are counted in the cash budget because they reflect actual money transfers between the government and the public. The trust funds so far take in more than they pay out.

The Doctor Says... Near And Far Sightedness Are Common Eye Problems

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Millions of people use glasses for close work or all the time, and although there are many reasons, among the more common are that the eyes are "near-sighted" or "far-sighted." For this reason I receive a good many requests to discuss these two conditions.

When a person is near-sighted it is spoken of medically as myopia. There is a strong hereditary tendency to myopia. It may begin at an early age, but its further development can stop at almost any time. The eyeball is almost always lengthened in myopia, that is, the distance between the front of the eye and the back becomes greater.

The cause of near-sightedness is not exactly known. It seems to be more common among highly educated groups and those who study excessively or do a lot of close work. Reading of poor print, poor lighting, faulty posture, poor construction of desks and poor health all seem to contribute to the development of nearsightedness. Those who do not get enough outdoor exercise also have a tendency to near-sightedness.

In many cases moderate myopia develops fairly early in youth, but ceases to become worse at or about the time of full maturity. In those where near-sightedness continues to become worse, it is called progressive myopia.

Most of those who are near-sighted do not have any particular symptoms except that when they look off in the distance the objects appear blurred. They can continue to do close work like reading or sewing with perfect comfort. They need concave glasses to see distant objects well.

A hyperopic, or far-sighted eye, needs a convex glass of just the right strength to cause the light rays to focus clearly at the back of the eye or retina.

ASTIGMATISM COMPLICATES

A certain amount of far-sightedness is extremely common. Many young people need glasses to help them read or to do other close work without fatigue. Hyperopia is often complicated by astigmatism, which is another condition involving a difference in the curvatures of the eye.

There is also a condition called presbyopia which involves a loss of the focusing ability in the older years. It may affect normal, near-sighted or farsighted-people. It requires a stronger glass for reading than is needed for distance. If distance correction is necessary, bifocals, or even trifocals, are often prescribed.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Gerard David Schine, the handsome, dreamy-eyed young man who gravitated around Europe at taxpayers' expense on behalf of Joe McCarthy, still seems to lead a charmed life in the Army. Though only a private, superior officers almost bow and scrape before him, and one officer who didn't, the commander of the Provost Marshal School at Camp Gordon, Ga., has just been transferred.

He is Col. Francis Kreidel, who had the temerity to come to Washington in January to protest against Schine's assignment to the Provost Marshal School. On January 19, Colonel Kreidel was transferred to Tokyo.

Ordinarily no one is admitted to the Provost Marshal School unless under regulation 615-215-1 he has had two years' service, and unless he has the rank of corporal or higher. Schine has had only four months service and is only a private. Furthermore, a candidate for this school must have a history of freedom from pathological or personality disorders. Schine, however, was deferred from the draft after a physical examination had tabbed him with a "schizoid personality."

Though the Army requires candidates for the Provost Marshal School to be in Class 1 or Class 2 physical condition, Schine is in Class 3.

MCCARTHY INTERVENES

Despite all this, Senator McCarthy arranged for his ex-committee staffer to be transferred from his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., direct to the Provost Marshal School where he is supposed to take an advanced criminal investigation course. And with the support of someone in Secretary of the Army Stevens' office, the transfer was O. K'd.

And when Colonel Kreidel came to Washington to protest, he found himself transferred to Tokyo. His place is being taken by Brig. Gen. Francis Howard who has been in Tokyo.

The Army claims officially that it's pure coincidence that Kreidel is being transferred at this time. However, the normal tour of duty at Camp Gordon is three and a half years. Army officers point to another official "coincidence," when Major Irving Peress, who also tangled with McCarthy, was involuntarily separated from the Army.

GERARD'S CHARMED CAREER

Meanwhile, the dreamy-eyed Gerard David Schine continues his charmed Army career.

It goes back to postwar days when he was first exempted from the draft because at the age of 23 he acted as vice president of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, one of the six swanky hotels owned by his father. Later he got a 4-F classification while he gallivanted around Washington and Europe for the McCarthy committee.

Finally last July, Schine was reclassified 1-A whereupon McCarthy promptly called on Gen. Miles Rober, then Army legislative representative on Capitol Hill, and requested that Schine get a commission. To this end, his papers were sent to three different branches of the Army. Each sent back word that he lacked the qualifications for a commission.

So in late October Schine was finally drafted as a private. Whereupon McCarthy Point textbooks for left-wing slants.

This didn't go down well with the Army. West Point has had such notable teachers as Douglas MacArthur, Ike Eisenhower and Al Gruenther, now head of NATO. They didn't think West Point textbooks needed supervision by a 27-year-old private.

Schine was ordered to report November 3. But McCarthy got him ten days' temporary duty in New York, and he was finally sent to Fort Dix for boot training on November 13. However, McCarthy got an agreement from the Army that Schine could have his week ends off to come to Washington, allegedly for investigative work, that he could have weekday evenings off and young Mr. Roy Cohn badgered the Army so much that Schine escaped all kitchen police duty.

However, Schine's special privileges were so abused that Gen. Cornelius Ryan protested direct to Secretary of the Army Stevens, and the weeks nights off were stopped. Schine still got week ends however, and failed to show up for Saturday morning duty.

MIR. COHN THREATENS

As of today, the dream boy is taking the eight-weeks basic training given to all military policemen for the Provost Marshal's School at Camp Gordon. Right now he's learning to direct traffic.

This menial work, however, has brought a howl of protest from his pal and partner, Mr. Cohn, who wants his friend to go direct into criminal investigation, not horse around with basic police training and traffic problems.

Mr. Cohn is so upset about this that he has been telephoning the office of Secretary of the Army Stevens demanding that Gerard David be spared this basic training. If Gerard is not spared, Roy warns, he is going to see to it that the Secretary of the Army is fired.

And that is the current, but probably not the concluding, chapter of the Washington classic which has come to be known as "Mr. Cohn and Mr. Schine."

Rapidly Approaching a Fateful Decision

Last Of U.S. Cavalry Horses Will Remain At Ft. Riley, Kan.

By MARY KAY FLYNN

NEA Staff Correspondent

FT. RILEY, Kans. —(NEA)—The last of the U. S. cavalry horses aren't making a last stand, after all.

They won't be moved to strange pastures or be "put to sleep." They have been given a reprieve, and will stay at this century-old cavalry post of Indian wars.

Famous for distinguished service to their country, the 30 retired horses at Ft. Riley will continue to graze on hills once covered with as many as 300,000 military steeds at one time. They will remain as the final evidence of the glorious past of the mounted soldier.

Recently Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago announced that the retired horses would be moved to Camp Carson, Colo., home of a pack mule installation, or be destroyed as an economy move.

"Would you shoot General Wainwright's horse?" asked M. Sgt. Charles "Kayo" Brown, Ft. Riley farrier for 26 years, when he heard the news.

Millwood, 21-year-old favorite mount of the hero of Bataan, is one of the retired horses fondly tended by Brown, a cavalryman for 33 years. The horse was chosen by Wainwright while the general was stationed at Ft. Riley in the 1930's.

Perhaps the prospect of moving or destroying the horses bothered others outside the Kansas post as much as it did old cavalrymen. An official spokesman at Fifth Army Headquarters, asked for a probable date for the economy transfer, reported that no action regarding the announced move is contemplated "now or in the foreseeable future."

According to Lt. Col. C. B. Johnston, commander of the Veterinarian Detachment responsible for the horses, Congress did not appropriate any specific funds for retired horses in fiscal 1954.

"They always did before," he commented.

Sgt. Brown, one of the three men detailed to care for the horses, recalled the law providing for retirement of distinguished horses when they reach the age of 16 and said he considered the lack of appropriation comparable by retiring a soldier and then not paying his pension.

Because each of the retired horses has a history, they were not sold in the Ft. Riley dispersal of 1947. Brown closed his horse-shoeing schooling that year.

The last three horses to join the band at Ft. Riley are Switzelstick, Rattler and Bill Riddle, veterans of the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

The oldest is 27-year-old Dakota, famed champion jumper of the 1936 Olympics.

In addition to General Wainwright, famous generals in Ft. Riley's past included Gen. George Armstrong Custer, whose ill-fated Seventh Cavalry regiment was stationed at the Kansas post; Gen. J. E. B. Stuart of the Civil War; Gen. George S. Patton, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The post was founded in 1853 to guard westward-bound pioneers from Indian attacks.

in the tradition of the past, and Sgt. Brown still uses anvil and hammer at one of the two remaining blacksmith's forges.

Those duties lately are performed with more than usual devotion, now that the reprieve has been granted.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATMAN

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS—Recent incidents in Spain and Italy lead to the inevitable conclusion that in the war of the West against Communism we have become naively intimate with some strange bedfellows.

For the United States to fight Communism at home and abroad is well—but for the leaders of Spain and Italy to join us in the fight by kicking American and British ships is somewhat unusual.

Gen. Franco and his Spanish government have been and continue to be notoriously intolerant of individuals, groups, organizations and governments not in agreement with Franco's totalitarian views. Cooperation with Franco is a one-way street.

The situation in Italy is better, so far as America is concerned—but repeated instances of oppressive and dictatorial action against minorities indicate the Italian government shares the Franco antipathy to constitutional freedoms as we know them in the United States.

GOADING THE LION—The incident which shows how faithful Spain is as a partner in the Western democracies' fight against Communism occurred on Jan. 22.

The Franco government organized student demonstrations against the British. Franco wants the British to give up Gibraltar to Spain, although Spain has neither the strength nor the unity necessary to make that fortress effective in withstanding enemy attack.

So the Spanish students marched to the British embassy and "demonstrated" by breaking windows and shouting. They returned on Jan. 25 to find that by British demand the Spanish government had placed police there.

For getting the purpose of their "demonstration" the students delightedly took up a fight with the Spanish police. Pent-up hatreds that indicate the depravity of Franco's government flared among the students.

The young men of Spain called Franco's police "killers" and shouted for a "free press"—ignoring their initial purpose which was to support Franco in his demands for the return of Gibraltar.

The students know Spain's flaws and failures under Franco. They know that until the people of Spain throw off the yoke of their dictatorial government they are powerless to fight effectively for freedom anywhere.

France will be able to keep the lid on—but for how long? And is Spain to be counted among the foes of Communism?

AND THE EAGLE—The people of Italy, like the students of Spain, are in revolt against the forces of tyranny and oppression.

In Italy the people have turned to Communism with a welcoming spirit found nowhere else outside the iron curtain countries. It is their answer to the burdensome and often unjust and intolerant actions of a government dedicated to the suppression of minorities.

The United States has been most generous to Italy in giving money and credits in an effort to stem the tide of Communism. Yet this assistance has been largely unsuccessful because of the determined opposition of a growing number of Italians to the leaders in their own government.

Today Italy stands exposed as the failure in the ranks of the West—because freedom never came to Italy despite the flood of American dollars.

Most disheartening to the people of the United States is the Italian government's oppressive actions against minorities. The accusation that these minorities are "aiding Communism" is at best no more than an excuse for totalitarian acts which are doubly shocking because they occur outside of Communist Russia.

When the police of Rome order newsmen from the scene and take a news cameraman of the Associated Press into custody, although later releasing him, the pattern of tyranny that has alienated Italian citizens from their own government becomes fully apparent.

STIM AND SUBSTANCE—The free West must look to the weak spots in its own armor against Communism.

Freedom, like charity, must begin at home, and unless Spain and Italy reform their governments they will continue to be weak links in the chain forged by the West to confine Communism.

Meanwhile, assistance the United States gives Spain and Italy does little except sustain governmental systems that practice and preach the totalitarian way.

Kentucky Puts Books On Road

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—More than one hundred mobile libraries soon will fan out over Kentucky to provide something that hundreds of thousands of rural Kentuckians never have had before—free library service.

The cream of an estimated 750,000 books collected in a statewide "Bookmobile Project" will stock these traveling libraries. The goal had been only a half million books.

Three barn-like buildings here, the main collection center for the book drive that dipped into private libraries in nearly every Kentucky community, are jammed by contributions.

Miss Margaret Willis, head of the circulation department of the Louisville Free Public Library, said the sorting and culling of the volumes will be expedited by trained librarians.

She expressed belief at least half the books collected will be suitable for general library circulation—a net of around 375,000.

The bookmobiles themselves, which cost $3,000 with an original complement of 600 new books, will be purchased from funds obtained in a finance campaign that still is going on.

The goal had been 100 traveling libraries. Funds for 93 already have been obtained in a drive so successful that leaders have said the goal may be raised to 120—one for each Kentucky county.

The great response in book contributions resulted from a "Citizens March for Books." This was a door-to-door canvass in communities throughout the state.

Also highly successful was a free-movie program for children. In more than 300 theaters through out Kentucky, children who brought two books were admitted to a special program.

Theater operators contributed the use of their movie houses and the films, and the employees their services.

District Governor Addresses Lions Club At Garden

GARDEN—Lion District Governor McCrea of Marquette addressed the Garden Peninsula Lions club Thursday evening concerning the "True Spirit of Lionism."

He emphasized the need for acts of Lionism rather than numerous clubs bearing lengthy membership rolls. A Lions Club containing a large number of non-attending or non-acting members was compared to a fruit tree that is much in need of pruning.

Governor McCrea stated that in selecting new club members it is important that a good screening process be used in order to pick out candidates who are willing to give of themselves in order to serve others rather than end up with a list of individuals who are out to see what they personally can gain out of membership.

Michigan's Lion Sponsored Leadership Program was discussed in full by Lion McCrea and it was pointed out that we would soon have five leaderships active in the Upper Peninsula. These dogs have a list value of $1,250 when training is complete. They are available only through lions clubs at a personal cost of $350 which is often paid for by the local Lions Club. A film showing the training program of both student and dog was shown.

The committee for the Smelt Jamboree selected April 24 as the date for the festival.

New Engineering Dean Appointed At Michigan State

Dr. John D. Ryder, 47, head of the electrical engineering department at the University of Illinois, has been named Dean of the School of Engineering at Michigan State College. It was announced by President John A. Hannah. The appointment is effective July 1, 1954.

Dr. Ryder succeeds Dean Lorin G. Miller who retired July 1, 1953. Dean Miller, a member of the staff since 1929, had served as dean since 1949. Following Dean Miller's retirement, Dr. A. A. Potter, retired dean of the School of Engineering at Purdue University, has served as consultant to President Hannah in charge of the School of Engineering.

Dr. Ryder was born in Columbus, Ohio, and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Ohio State University. His doctor of philosophy degree was awarded by Iowa State College.

After receiving the master's degree, he worked with the General Electric Company in the development of electronics. In 1931, he became supervisor of the electronic section of the Baily Meter Company's research laboratory in Cleveland. Two dozen patents reflect his work there.

In 1941, Dr. Ryder became assistant professor at Iowa State College, and in 1944 as full professor, he was placed in charge of electronics courses. In 1947, he became assistant director of the Iowa Engineering Experiment Station. He became professor and head of the electrical engineering department at the University of Illinois in September 1949.

The new M.S.C. dean is the author of two textbooks and numerous technical papers. A major achievement at Illinois was the construction of an electrical network analyzer adequate to study the state's entire power distribution system.

Industry Needs Engineers, Hunts College Graduates

the demand for scientific graduates is leveling off. Last year's demand for grads was put at 25 per cent higher than in 1952.

Colleges report vigorous recruiting campaigns by corporations to get graduates to sign up for work with them.

The chemical society says that this year the starting pay for chemistry graduates will average 5 per cent higher than last spring. It reports the average starting pay last year for those with bachelor degrees was $351. If you had a doctor's degree you averaged $525 to start.

Companies are doing more than just scout the campus come spring. An increasing number setting up graduate and undergraduate scholarships. Students working under them are presumably inclined to look with favor on their benefactors.

Wives Included

A number of companies are giving summer jobs to engineering students and to their professors. The idea is that the professors will know the needs of the companies, and the students will learn the opportunities the company affords.

Since World War II a large percentage of engineering students have been married. Some companies aren't overlook the wives in their recruiting campaigns.

They invite the wife down to look over the town where they want her husband to come to work, some companies offer to pay moving expenses as an inducement for a family to come to them when campus days are over.

Congress May Legalize Wire Tapping As Good Weapon Against Spies

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY
WASHINGTON — Faced with both the need to deal with the Communist conspiracy and the desire to preserve Constitutional guarantees against invasion of privacy, Congress soon may decide whether wire tapping should be legalized.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.), last year won House Judiciary Subcommittee approval of his bill to authorize wire tapping in "National security" cases, with the permission of a federal judge. Keating forecast "positive" action by the full Judiciary Committee, and by the House.

Another approach is represented in a bill sponsored by Judiciary Committee Chairman Chauncey W. Reed (R-Ill.). It would legalize wire tapping upon approval of the Attorney General.

Brownell Wants Revision
Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., in 1953 testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, asked Congress to approve the use of wire-tapped evidence in federal courts. He complained that government cases against alleged espionage agents had been hampered by court refusal to accept evidence obtained through wire tapping or from tap "leads." He later recommended to President Eisenhower that the Administration request for wire tapping law revision be broadened to permit its use against gamblers and racketeers.

Sens. Pat McCarran (D Nev.) and Estes Kefauver (D Tenn.), Judiciary Committee members, both attacked the Brownell proposals. McCarran said Jan. 7 they were among "the most dangerous things to American freedom proposed in a long time." Kefauver, the same day described it as "peeping Tom" legislation.

But Chairman Homer Ferguson (R Mich.), of the GOP Senate Policy Committee predicted Congress would vote to legalize wire tapping for national security reasons and "with the proper safeguards."

Americans for Democratic Action in 1953 favored legislation to permit wire tapping, within limitations. It called the practice "a serious infringement of civil liberties" to be permitted only on approval of a federal judge. The American Civil Liberties Union, though opposed to wire tapping, testified it preferred the Keating bill as "containing the most safeguards."

Present Law
Section 605 of the Federal Communications Act (1934) states: "No person, not being authorized by the sender, shall intercept any communication . . . and divulge (it) . . . to any person." Violators are subject to two years' imprisonment or a $10,000 fine, or both. No one has been convicted of wire tapping under Section 605, but many convicted of crimes through the use of tapped evidence have won reversals on appeal.

Some estimates place the cost of wire tapping at $700 a week. That includes hiring a professional wire tapper seldom at less than $50 a day, plus such expenses as renting a "plant" and bribing janitors. Wire tapping machines cost anywhere from $4.85 to $980. One good enough for most purposes sells for about $250.

In New York, where tapping is legal and tapped evidence is admissible in state courts, the City Police Department and the County District Attorney share the services of professional wire tappers who install and remove taps. About 200 New York City police monitor the taps.

Other wire tappers work for private individuals, who want everything from information on straying mates to advance financial reports.

Pros and Cons
Since a case developed in New York City in 1895, the legality and propriety of the practice has been debated.

On one hand are Constitutional guarantees against illegal search and protecting the right to privacy. On the other is the need for policing agencies to utilize technological advances also available to criminals.

Before generalized use of the telephone, police could shadow criminals by following them. Police argue that now, when a criminal enters a telephone booth, he substitutes this for personal contact—and the police should be allowed to "shadow" persons in this way.

Opponents of legalized wire tapping warn that it may be a step toward a "Nineteen Eighty-Four" America. They say the day may come when government-controlled electronic devices will pry into the personal lives of everyone, searching for possible infractions of the law.

Apples No Sign Of Depression

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Remember when selling apples was a symbol of the big depression? They were a red-cheeked sign of prosperity recently in the Far North. They sold for 50 cents apiece.

Bob Rice flew a box of the fruit to the remote village of Ak-lavik, in northwestern Canada, along with a cargo of machinery. He said the apples were snapped up at the premium price in an hour and a half.

Podner, You Talk Western And So's Your Cow Bunny

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
AP Newsfeatures

TUCSON, Ariz.—Many people earmark things, and talk turkey. You probably have said "it's a cinch" when you knew you could do something. And if something is haywire you know it is out of order.

Whenever you use these expressions, you are using the language of the old west.

Ranchers, cowpokes and prospectors took ordinary words, mixed them around a bit, and came forth with sayings that fill our speech to such an extent that we sometimes forget their original meaning.

Dr. George D. Hendricks, a professor at North Texas State College at Denton, Tex., has been gathering metaphors of the ranch country, checking their source, and seeing how widely they are used today. He is convinced the western expressions are here to stay.

The more than 700 expressions he has collected formed the basis of a paper he delivered recently. "The first things to be earmarked were cattle," he says. "Everybody knows what it means to horn in, to pass the buck, to keep an ear to the ground, to get down to bed rock, or to camp on someone's trail. We all regret when things don't pan out and we have to pull up stakes."

"Such things are here to stay." And they all came from the West. Every cowhand knows what a four-flusher is. So do most city folk. Of a self-important person the cowboy says, "He figgers he can spit twice and stop a drought."

The rancher shows respect for the venerable man with wrinkles in his horns. A man who can mix the medicine has the ability to cope with any situation. A man who means business talks turkey. A man with courage knows how to die standing up.

Perhaps the greatest compliment any cowboy ever gave a man was "He'll do to ride the river with." The phrase refers to his ability to ride with the herd across a swollen, treacherous river.

"The whole gamut of human emotions is expressible in cow country metaphor," Hendricks explained. "If the cowboy is disgusted, he's looking for a dog to kick. If he is humiliated, he's eating drag dust,—being assigned to the most humiliating trail job of dragging behind the herd."

"If he is angry, he's in a horn-tangling, sod-pawing mood. One way to calm him down is to say, 'Jest haul in yore neck, podner.'"

"If he is confused or non-plussed, he's got his spurs all tangled up. If he's exuberant, he's got his wolf loose. If he's downcast, he's wearing his chin on his instep."

To kill a man is to kick him into a funeral procession, to make him into wolf meat; to put him to bed with pick and shovel. "Heading for the Last Roundup" and "Empty Saddles in the Old Corral" are popular songs taken from authentic sayings.

"A filly," says Dr. Hendricks, "is a young lady, but chivalry would not permit the use of the word mare to designate a married woman. A respectable woman is a calico, sage hen or grouse. Two terms of affection for a wife were cow bunny and long-haired partner.

"The puncher knows it is true love when he gets that coffee-grinder feeling in his gizzard. Then he'll cut a rusty (go court-ing), drop his rope on his filly (get engaged), and get hitched (married)."

Just as a clincher, Dr. Hendricks asks "How many times a year do you use the term 'branded'?"

Play Marathon Cribbage Game

WHITINSVILLE, Mass. (AP) — George Williams, a machine shop foreman, retired nine years ago and has been playing cribbage with his wife ever since.

They have played 27,000 games, counting holes rather than games in scoring. The lead has shifted alternately from 700 to zero. The latest count gave Williams only an 18 hole lead over his wife.

Wants Return Of Coon Popularity

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Doxie Moore, Indiana's conservation department director, would like to see raccoon coats return to the wardrobes of college men. Twenty-five years ago, when the shaggy coats were the rage, Indiana stocked its fields and woodlands with hundreds of the animals. Hunters kept the population in check.

Now, Moore says, farmers are complaining of big crop losses to packs of the hungry 'coons, virtually safe from harm since there's no market for their skins. To help solve the problem this year, Moore says the 'coon season will be lengthened so hunters can reduce the population.

Human Touch Urged

WINNIPEG (AP)—Teachers must know their subjects. But they should also know their pupils, says Dr. J. M. Brown, Curriculum Director of the Manitoba Education Department. "If a teacher intends to teach John arithmetic, she must know arithmetic, but she must also know John," he said. "And John in many respects is very unlike arithmetic."

Curious Critters Are These Ladies Who Dress In Fur

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

Certain ladies who wear fur coats are fond of referring to us shooters and fishermen as blood-thirsty men. Little do they think those fur coats may have come from the most bloodthirsty of little animals—the weasel, who in his winter coat becomes the ermine.

Weasels are curious creatures, too. One looked me over from every angle once, and decided that I wasn't edible, or at least would be too tough even for him to take on. He watched me from 15 to 20 feet for at least five minutes before scuttling off on a more important matter, the search for food.

A weasel needs to eat about a third of his own weight each day. Up at the 8000-foot-level in October, this one had already gone into his white winter coat phase, and stood out startlingly under the somber spruces.

Another white-coat I saw in New York State's Adirondacks was Mustela Rixosa, since his tail tip showed only a few blackish hairs when he inspected me close-up. I was parked on a stump, hoping a buck deer might mistake me for a natural extension of that stump, and while I didn't fool a deer that day I certainly had the little weasel baffled.

He peeked at me from around a long end, from the top-side vantage point of a convenient hemlock limb, from back to front, his whole body twitching with nervous life. With no sound save furtive leaf rattles or the scratch of tiny claws on bark he darted around a circle no more than five feet in radius, inspecting every fascinating detail of the red-coated creature which sat on a stump with a black stick in its hands.

No chattering, just intense examination. Guess I must have passed, because eventually the midget-sized killer galloped off on the personal business of shopping for some red meat.

Too bad he didn't have a luncheon of red squirrel in mind, since that might have helped me satisfy my own need for a fair crack at a buck. Only a few seconds after the weasel had looped off, I heard deer moving my way on the far side of a spruce fringe, apparently browsing along slowly and un-suspiciously.

But just as they were about to appear a blasted red squirrel discovered me sitting below his home tree and set up an unholy racket, cursing out me and my ancestors for generations back—and incidentally sounding a warning to every smart buck within half a mile. Hope the weasel did better on his hunt than I did on mine.

Cherry Pudding Is Basic Recipe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
A GEORGE WASHINGTON supper deserves a dessert as special—and as old-fashioned—as this Cherry Puff Pudding. We're full of praise for this pudding because it's one of those basic recipes you'll use over and over again.

This old-time fruit pudding is usually called a "cobbler." When we looked into Webster to see what the dictionary made of cobbler we found it was described as "a deep-dish fruit pie with a thick upper crust." Our pudding is called a Puff because it has a feathery cake, rather than a pastry, topping.

The cherries for the pudding are thickened with quick-cooking tapioca, in a saucepan on top of the range, before they go into the baking dish. The tapioca leaves the cherry flavor unimpaired and gives a consistency to the fruit juices that is just right with the sponge-cake topping.

When we tested this pudding, we used cherries packed in extra-heavy syrup, and accompanied it with unsweetened whipped cream. It was a delicious combination.

Cherry Puff Pudding

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/8 teaspoon salt, one No. 2 syrup-packed pitted red sour cherries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 2 eggs (unbeaten) 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup sifted cake flour.

Method: Mix tapioca, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/8 teaspoon salt, and cherries (including juice) in a saucepan. Cook and stir over moderate heat until mixture comes to a boil. Add lemon juice; remove from heat. Add butter; stir until melted. Pour into 2-quart baking dish and keep warm. Put eggs, cream of tartar, and 1/8 teaspoon salt in bowl. Beat with rotary egg beater until foamy. Then add 1/2 cup sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is thick and ivory colored. Gradually sift flour over mixture, folding it in as you do so. Turn onto warm fruit mixture. Bake in slow (325°F) oven. If desired, garnish each serving with a small ball of hard sauce rolled in red sugar, with a maraschino cherry stem inserted, to resemble a cherry. Or serve with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

WASHINGTON'S Birthday dessert caps the meal when you bring on this cherry pudding.

Concert Draws Large Audience

A crowd estimated at 350 or more persons enjoyed the concert presented by the Barbershop Chorus of Escanaba last Thursday evening at Gladstone High School. The chorus was ably directed by Sam Ham of Escanaba.

The program was sponsored by the Lions Club of Gladstone as a benefit for the Gladstone Community Hospital and all proceeds from the concert go to the hospital fund.

Complete returns had not been made to John P. Vogt, who handled the ticket sale, so the amount made could not be definitely determined.

Groups of numbers by the High School Band under the direction of Paul Cowen, selections by that master of the accordion, Bill Hewitt, a woodwind number by a quintet composed of Louise Klug, Jane Jandro, Marie Pettit, Joyce Stowe and Lois Mattson, a piano solo by Mary Joe Bolger and a comic monologue by Fred Johnson augmented the program.

Charles Burton, president of the Lions Club, served capably as master of ceremonies.

The chorus appeared here without remuneration. After the concert members of the chorus were guests of the Lions club at a supper served at the Yacht Club.

Golfers Make Plans For '54

A progress report was presented and plans discussed for 1954 activities at a recent meeting of the Gladstone Golf Club.

The many improvements apparent to players early last year were supplemented after the playing season was over.

Nine tee offs were rebuilt and some enlarged for seeding this spring. Erosion of banks on the Days River was corrected in a number of spots by many loads of rock and sand was deposited in a swampy area.

Underbrushing was continued in a wooded section and dead trees removed. Two bridges were replanked and sections of fairways covered with new soil. Several hundred seedlings are to be planted this spring as a start on landscaping and reforestation.

Plans for 1954 also are under way to add a section to the Club House to provide a shower room and allow enlargement or extension of the bar. This is designed to relieve congestion in the dining room and on the enclosed porch.

Caretakers for both fairways and for the clubhouse will be procured but these have not been definitely arranged for as yet.

Officers and directors of the club remain as for the past two years and are as follows: James T. Jones, president; O'Neil D'Amour, vice president; Charles Hoffos, secretary-treasurer; Directors include Torval Kallerson, E. H. Huesener, B. H. Skellenger, Kurt Soderberg, William Blake, Ed Parkhurst, Wm. S. Skellenger, Fred Siebert, Lewis N. Empson and Mrs. Ed Parkhurst.

Trojans Win, Eskymos Lose Weekend Games

Lourdes Loses 70-65 Decision

The St. Joe Trojans threw a balanced scoring attack at Marinette Lourdes here Saturday night and came up with an impressive 70-65 victory over the highly-regarded Wisconsin school.

All eight players to see action for the Trojans gained the scoring column, with sophomore center John Berrigan returning to action with 13 points. He collected his entire total in the first half.

Coach Tom St. Germain's quint opened fast and raced to a 24-10 lead at the end of the first period. They maintained the fast tempo to lead 40-25 at the half.

Play Control Ball

In the final two periods the Lourdes Shamrocks rallied to cut the margin considerably and the Trojans concentrated on controlling the ball in the late stages of the game.

Fouls hurt both teams as Lourdes lost two on personals and the Trojans also lost two starters.

Although the game was close in the final minutes, Lourdes never moved nearer than four points, 62-58, and St. Joe scored eight points on free throws in the final minutes as Lourdes fouled in attempting to gain possession of the ball.

Vanderlin Scoreless

Gary Vanderlin, one of Lourdes' leading scorers this season and averaging 14.8 in Fox River Valley Catholic Conference play, was held scoreless by the Trojans. Center George Peterson led the visitors with 19, Jim Payette scored 18 and Tom Anglehart 17.

St. Joe's Bee team earned a 46-33 victory in the preliminary game.

The Trojans have won 11 of 14 starts thus far this season and travel to Rapid River Saturday for their next game.

Frank Selvy Scores 100 Points To Break Major College Mark

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Furman's fabulous Frank Selvy isn't through yet. The terror of the Carolinas—and darling of the professional scouts—steps on the court against Wofford on his home grounds Tuesday night and if he scores 17 points, the last of the major records within his grasp will be his.

Right now, Johnny O'Brien, the ex-Seattle sharpshooter, holds the single-season scoring high of 884 points for major colleges. Frank, who poured 100 points through the hoop against Newberry Saturday, now has 868 points.

With his 100-point orgy, Selvy accomplished the following:

1. Broke the single-game record of 73 points for a major college player set by Bill Mikvy of Temple in 1951.

Set Career Record

2. Established an all-time career record for a college player with 868 points.

3. Broke the major college record of 1,540 for two seasons set by Dick Groat of Duke.

4. Enabled Furman to score 148 points, seven higher than the previous one-game record set by Baltimore against Lynchburg earlier this season.

Frank's great show also might have long-range consequences. Furman now is very much in the running for a bid to the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden next month.

Wave of Upsets

Despite Saturday's wave of upsets in which such behemoths as Indiana, Oklahoma A&M, and La Salle were defeated, the postseason picture remained about the same.

Thirty-six teams will play in the NIT and NCAA competitions—24 in the NCAA and 12 in the NIT.

Duquesne, Dayton and Western Kentucky already are in the NIT. Furman probably will be invited as will Bevo Francis and his Rio

Nelson And Betts Win Milwaukee Mitt Titles

MILWAUKEE—Upper Michigan boxers won 118 pound championships in both the novice and open divisions Saturday night in the 24th annual Milwaukee Journal Golden Gloves tournament finals at the Milwaukee Arena.

They are Harry Nelson, Manistique, who defeated Thomas Murphy, Fond du Lac, in the 118 novice finals and Thomas Betts, Marquette, who won the 118 open championship by defeating John Williams, of Milwaukee, in the finals.

Brian Mastaw, Soo, Mich., welterweight, lost in the finals of the 147 novice division to Dennis Kilzer, Milwaukee, but it was an unpopular decision with crowd of approximately 10,000 fans and Mastaw was awarded the trophy for being the outstanding out-of-town novice boxer in the tournament.

Lancour Gets Trophy

Harvard Lancour, Manistique,

defending champion in the 126 open class, also lost an unpopular decision to Richard Bartman, Milwaukee, and Lancour was presented with a trophy as the outstanding out-of-town open division boxer.

Two other Upper Peninsula contenders were in the finals Saturday night, both losing in the championship bouts. They are Virgil Bacon, of Menominee, who lost to Robert Woyak, Marshfield, in the 160 novice championship bout, and Richard Nolan, Soo, Ont., who lost to Ray Nash, Milwaukee, in the finals of the 175 open division.

Nelson scored effectively with lefts to the head in his match with Murphy, an older and more experienced boxer. Nelson staggered Murphy in the final round and the outcome was not in doubt.

Mastaw Finishes Strong

Mastaw was slow getting started in his bout with Kilzer for the 147 novice title but the Soo southpaw landed a series of hard punches in the second and third rounds.

The decision was unanimous for Kilzer but was greeted with a crescendo of boos.

Virgil Bacon was outclassed by Woyak and was decked for a nine count at the final bell.

Betts, winner last year of the 118 novice title, won going away in his bout with John Williams, colored Milwaukee bantamweight. Betts was the more aggressive boxer and won all three rounds for a unanimous decision.

Crowd Boos Decision

The loss of the featherweight championship by Manistique's classy Harvard Lancour was a bitter and undesired blow. Lancour was the 175 open division champion. He was defeated by Jim Rose and Gordon Haga, Bad Provo, Duane Rajala, Jim Smith and Jack Tackman, forwards.

Marquette—Tom Glass, goal; Neal White, Bob Young, Bob Louma, Bob Taill, defense; Bob Trezona, Hank Normand, Joe Deember, Mel Brunelle, Carl Carlson and Joe L'Houillier, forwards.

Saves: Barak 11, Glass 11.

Wes Santee Flirts With 4-Minute Mile

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Three seconds is less time than it takes the average person to read just one paragraph in his news paper.

Three seconds is about all that separates relay runner Wes Santee the fabulous Kansas miler, from the equally fabulous dream of the four-minute mile.

This explains the intense interest of track fans in a triangular meet between Kansas, Illinois and East Lansing tonight.

Is there a chance he might run that elusive four-minute mile?

Matter Of Time

"I know he'll do it some day just as surely as I know the sun will rise in the morning," said Easton earnestly. "But it's a matter of just when it will happen."

Easton gave the impression, however, that he'd like to have Santee make his all-out effort in the mile in home territory — at the Big Seven indoor meet at Kansas City, Feb. 26-27.

"Of course, we won't hold him back tonight," said Easton. "If he's right, he might get down to that four-minute mark."

13 League Champs

The NCAA takes 13 conference champions, plus the top team from the Middle Atlantic Conference and the New England Conference, neither of which operate as a league. That makes 15 teams. It is rounded out by five Eastern "at large" teams-independents—and four western.

If they can't get La Salle, Niagara, Louisville and Holy Cross, the NCAA probably will settle for Fordham, Navy, Penn State, Notre Dame and Bowling Green. Notre Dame, with 13-2, has the best record.

In the West, the four clubs are almost sure to be Seattle, Santa Clara, Oklahoma City and San Francisco. There isn't much else to choose from.

cour carried the fight to Richard Bartman, Milwaukee, last year's 126 novice champion, and scored effectively with left hooks and hard right smashes. Bartman's most effective shots were two uppercuts landed in the first round. The decision was a heart-breaker for Lancour and it was roundly booed by the crowd.

Nolan was ineffective in his bout with Ray Nash, Milwaukee colored light heavyweight. Nolan, a counter punching southpaw, lost the flurries in a comparatively slow contest.

The outstanding boxer of the tournament was Norman Johnson, Urban league boxer who retained the 135 pound open championship. Johnson, who scored a technical knockout over Earl St. Louis, of Soo, Ont., in the semi-finals, knocked out Merlin Fink, Marshfield, in the first round of the championship windup Saturday night.

The winners of the 16 championships follow:

Novice Division—Werner Ware, Milwaukee, 112; Harry Nelson, Manistique, 118; William Bragg, Milwaukee, 126; Rudy Tamer Jr., Milwaukee, 135; Dennis Kilzer, Milwaukee, 147; Robert Woyak, Marshfield, 160; Thomas Richardson, Milwaukee, 175; Harold Woolfolk, Milwaukee, heavyweight.

Open Division—Mel Givens, Milwaukee, 112; Thomas Betts, 118; Richard Bartman, Milwaukee, 126; Norman Johnson, Milwaukee, 135; Ronald Pitts, Milwaukee, 147; John Neal, Milwaukee, 160; Ray Nash, Milwaukee, 175; George Hoppe, Marshfield, heavyweight.

Rapid River Is Pressed To Beat John D. Pierce Quint By 64-63

RAPID RIVER—The Rapid River Rockets were pressed to the final second of the game here Saturday night before nailing down a 64-63 decision over J. D. Pierce of Marquette.

The Rockets were leading 64-62 when a foul was called on Roger Brannstrom as the final buzzer sounded. Pierce's Lindholm stepped to the free throw line with two shots coming and sank his first to make it 64-63. He missed the second shot, however, and time was out.

It was the second narrow win in for Rapid River over Pierce. In the first meeting at Marquette Coach Keith Hines' Rockets won 46-44.

Johnson Scores 26

High-scoring Waldon Johnson pelted the nets with 26 points to set the pace for both teams. Although slightly off his average of 28.4 points per game, it raised his season total to 452 in 16 games, of which the Rockets have won 15.

Pierce took a 5-0 lead before the Rockets caught fire to tie it up at 12-12 at the end of the first period. Pierce crept ahead 28-27 at the half.

The Rockets moved out in front with a big third period and led 48-40 entering the final frame.

Lead Is Shaved

Pierce shaved the lead until the Rockets were only one point ahead, 59-58, with two minutes remaining in the game. Johnson hooked in a pair of field goals to spread the lead to 63-60. With 45 seconds left, Bob Olson made one of his two free throws to set the stage for the close finish. Cole dropped in a shot for Pierce and it was 64-62 when Brannstrom and Lindholm collided in the middle of the court and Lindholm drew his two foul shots.

The Rocket reserves also won the preliminary, 61-48.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, manager of the Detroit Tigers, is the new golf champion of major league baseball.

Freddie spotted pitcher Lou Krellow of the Baltimore Orioles an early 2-hole lead, then came back to defeat him 2-up in Sunday's finals of the National Baseball Players Golf Tournament.

Defending champion Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees was beaten in the first round. Alvin Dark of the New York Giants, who went to the finals with Reynolds last year, lost in the second round.

British Expedition To Hunt For Snowman Of Himalayas

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON (NEA) — Not since Stanley set out to find Livingstone in darkest Africa has there been anything quite like the British expedition which is now crawling around the Himalayas in search of the "Abominable Snowman."

Sir Henry Morton Stanley's safari to the Congo in the 1870's was kid's play by comparison. At least Sir Henry had a pretty good hunch that he would find Livingstone, the missing Scottish missionary.

The present British expedition has nothing to go on but a set of footprints, a dried scalp said to have belonged to a Snowman or to his Unspeakable Spouse, and a batch of confusing reports.

According to the latter, Yeti (which is the Tibetan name for the Snowman) is anything from pint-size to eight feet tall. His face is alternately described as heavily bearded, clean-shaven, or with a five o'clock shadow. Some say he walks backwards to throw people off his tracks; others say he does it to throw the hair out of his eyes.

It is to settle these fine points in dispute that a nine-man team is now on its way from Katmandu, Nepal, to Namche Bazaar on the slopes of Mount Everest. The team includes a lone American, Gerald Russell, a naturalist. It will conduct most of its search at altitudes of from 14,000 to 19,000 feet.

The London Daily Mail is picking up the tabs for the Snowman expedition. It is the Daily Mail's answer to the London Times' "scoop" of the conquest of Everest last year.

Unlike Stanley, who traveled with only a toothbrush, a butterfly net and a change of socks, the Snowman expedition is loaded down with seven tons of gear. It includes movie cameras, walkie-talkie radios — everything but oxygen cylinders. An army of 300 coolies is required to tote this equipment from Katmandu to the base of Everest.

For "the best equipped scientific expedition ever sent to the Himalayas," the team's findings have been rather meager to date. Anthropologist Charles Stonor, who is acting as "advance" man for the party, is said to have talked to sherpas "who have seen one."

Yeti's description, as pieced together by Stonor:

It is about the size of a 14-year-old boy, of the same build as a man. It is covered with light reddish hair, which is longest about the head and waist. Its head is "strikingly pointed." It has a loud, wailing, yelping call, and when heard near at hand often makes a chattering noise.

Normally it walks on two legs like a man, but when in a hurry it drops on all fours. It lives in a rocky region above the timberline.

Members of the expedition "pooh-pooh" the idea that Yeti could be a red Himalayan bear or a langur monkey. At the same time they are somewhat doubtful that they will come to close grips with their quarry.

"A layman" writes Ralph Izard, a journalist member of the expedition, "would possibly be astonished at the picture that a man such as Russell (the American naturalist) can construct from ... a footprint or two, a few hairs or a tuft of fur and droppings."

With the aid of this residue Russell is expected to tell not only the animal's weight, size and sex, but "where it was coming from, where it was going"—always supposing that Yeti knows where it is going.

Meanwhile, beguiled by the newspaper circulation war which is being fought on the world's highest peaks, London readers are looking forward eagerly to Yeti's first encounter with a Briton.

Already many have pictured the historic meeting when the hairy Himalayan steps before the sound camera and Anthropologist Stonor greets him with, "The Abominable Snowman, I presume."

$150,000 Improvements Completed At Powers

POWERS—A $150,000 program for plant improvement and rehabilitation of facilities has been completed at Pincrest Sanatorium at Powers, under a State grant authorized by the Michigan Legislature in 1951. Funds for the program came from a $65,000,000 bond issue for expanding State hospitals, of which $5,000,000 was set aside for providing additional facilities for the care of tubercular patients.

Pincrest is a tuberculosis sanatorium, operated by Menominee, Delta, Dickinson and Iron Counties, and is also supported in part by the state. Dr. John W. Towey has been superintendent of the institution since it was founded in 1921.

Among the completed projects in the Pincrest improvement program are construction of a residence for the medical director, Dr. Towey; remodeling, renovating and refurbishing of the dormitories for domestic employees, the nurses' home and the home for State laboratory employees; remodeling, renovating and refurbishing of the hospital proper; erection of a 50,000-gallon water tank; drilling of a 450-foot well, which is equipped with a rotary pump and chlorinating equipment; extension of water mains and hydrants for fire protection, construction of a brick pump house and purchase of nuisance property adjoining the sanatorium grounds.

Water Tanks Erected
A breakdown on expenditures of some of the major projects, as prepared by Dr. Towey, shows the new residence for the medical director was built at a cost of $32,989 with the contract going to the Potter Lumber Company of Spalding.

The water-tower and 50,000-gallon tank was constructed by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., at a cost of $25,750. Contract for the deep well with a turbine-type pumping unit went to the Layne-Northwest Company, Milwaukee, at a cost of $6,613; four new stokers for the heating plant were installed by the Marinette Fuel & Dock Company at a cost of $4,575 and an incinerator with oil burner and oil storage tank installed by Joseph Golder, Inc., Chicago, for $1,835.

Improvement to the hospital building included:

Kitchen—Stainless steel canopy over the cooking unit. The canopy is equipped with washable filters and is ventilated to the roof of the building. Fluorescent lighting installed. Food processing machines purchased, including a scale-power meat saw, slicer, meat grinder, and tenderizing machine. A 20-cubic foot deep freeze fixture was also added.

New Stokers Installed
Laundry—New equipment added including a 120-inch two-roll ironer with return apron; clothes presses, laundry trucks, electric sewing machine and installation of fluorescent lighting.

Patients' services—Complete renovation of the hospital building including bedside tables, rubber mattresses and new beds, movie projector, added facilities for x-ray service and x-ray room, intermittent positive pressure breathing apparatus, dictaphone for facilitating the recording of patient records, added equipment for the dental room and additional filing cabinets.

Engineering department—Purchase of new equipment including four stokers, an incinerator, a panel truck, a tractor for snow removal and lawn cutting and antenna for television sets. The refrigeration equipment was also remodeled.

Women Drivers On The Increase

AMES, Iowa (AP)—Dr. A. R. Lauer, auto driving specialist at Iowa State College, says statistics show the proportion of women drivers is on the increase but men still do most of the driving.

Since 1951 the proportion of women drivers has increased from one out of four to one out of three. But men still drive 80 per cent of the annual mileage.

Higgins In Race For Governor

LANSING (AP)—State Sen. George N. Higgins of Ferndale formally announced Friday he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Higgins is the third man to enter the GOP contest. He was preceded by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake of Stanton and former Lt. Gov. Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn.

Higgins, an auto dealer, emphasized that his campaign would be based on the theme of business efficiency in government.

Recalling he has served eight years in the Senate and six in the House of Representatives, Higgins said:

"I know where the government machinery is squeaking and where it is wasting power."

He declared he was "proud" of the new state business receipts tax which he steered through the Legislature last year and emphasized that his Senate Taxation committee had rejected all types of a personal income tax.

Higgins said that he had been born and raised on a farm in the Upper Peninsula and that he owns and operates one in Oakland County now.

SOMETHING NEW ON FOOT

Defense Secy Wilson Displays Fast Footwork at Weekly Conferences

Twisted in a left-hand thread. No comment.

Twisted in a right-hand thread. Dodging a direct answer.

He's restates himself on holding information back.

He's not practicing the fast footwork he's been in Washington today.

REPORTERS claim that they can test just what his footwork is worth by watching him in action.

CAUSE AND EFFECT?

A while ago, NEA Washington Correspondent Doug Larsen discovered that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has the most expressive feet in Washington. During his press conferences Wilson sits on a slightly raised platform that places his active feet in plain view. Larsen reported that reporters got so that they could tell what the secretary is really thinking just by watching his feet. The story is that Wilson sensed that the newshounds seemed to know just when he wasn't kicking in with all he knew. Some kind soul tipped him off that his feet were his arch enemy. So, being well-heeled, he took steps to stop the "leaks" by revamping the table as seen at right. Now he's completely footloose. With Secretary Wilson is Struve Hensel, left, Defense Department general counsel.

Makes Two-Year Voyage All Alone

TOULON, France (AP)—Piloting a 1908 fishing boat equipped only with sails 40-year-old Rene Chabas has just completed a two-year voyage of 14,500 miles alone in the Mediterranean.

Chabas sailed his tiny boat, the 19-foot "Papillon" from Algiers in September, 1951. He lost his rudder in a violent storm soon afterwards. He narrowly missed death on that occasion. Another time he rode out a storm which sank three cargo vessels nearby.

He was becalmed for 18 days and menaced with dying of thirst as his fresh water supply ran out. A passing vessel saved him.

A voyage from Algiers to Cannes took 32 days. Steamboats make it in two.
